

PDA Services & Resources

Personnel

National Response Team (NRT) and National Volunteer Team (NVT)

The NRT is PDA's primary response unit. NRT members are specially trained volunteers who can be deployed in small teams to cover initial disaster responses, and long-term training and support to mid councils, congregations and communities with recovery efforts. More NRT specifics are covered in the NRT Overview document (in the Initial Response section of the NRT and Mid Council Web Pages). These team members can assist mid councils in:

- Assessment of needs (Mid Council, Congregations, Community)
- Spiritual and pastoral support to mid council leadership, congregations and community faith leaders.
- Connecting the Presbytery to the many resources and services from government, as well as other faith partners and voluntary agencies
- Specialized disaster response in:
 - Emotional and spiritual care
 - Resilience and renewal for responders
 - Hosting volunteer work teams. PDA NRT members can deploy to churches that are interested in hosting volunteer work groups in support of the long-term recovery (Contact Nell Herring, PDA.CallCenter@pcusa.org; 866/732-6121)
 - Long-term recovery organizing
 - Disaster preparation (PDA collaborates with Presbyterian Women to lead these trainings)
 - Pastoral trauma, respite care (Contact Kathy Riley, Kathryn.Riley@pcusa.org; 859-536-7792)
 - Burned/damaged church leadership support
 - Human-caused disaster support
 - Healing camps for children affected by mass shootings or disasters
 - Refugee issues (Contact Susan Krehbiel, Susan.Krehbiel@pcusa.org; 502-565-6148)
 - Other - Recognizing that each disaster and disaster response is different, PDA has the ability to be flexible

Equipment

PDA no longer owns any equipment but has connections to national equipment resources such as portable shower buildings and trailers. PDA can also provide consultation about options for showers, tool storage, and bunk bed construction, among other issues.

Web-based Resources

PDA Website

The newly revised PDA website contains a vast array of resources to guide Presbyterians in how to respond to disaster. The website includes information about the current national and international responses; how to Stand in the GAP – Give, Act, & Pray; and many resource links for individuals and congregations including Stories of Hope and videos. The address is: <http://pda.pcusa.org>

Mid Council Web Page

PDA has developed a special web page for mid councils and community leaders that contain resources categorized by the major areas of disaster preparedness and response. NRT teams specializing in each topic area created this content. This includes general disaster response and long-term recovery information, as well as sample disaster plans. The address is: <http://pda.pcusa.org/page/midcouncil-epda/>

Funding

There is a suite of grants for Mid Councils that include:

- Initial Grants to allow broad disaster response support for congregations and communities
- Church Damage Assistance Grant for continuity of ministry
- Special Project Grants to assist with long-term recovery group organization and recovery needs, as well as volunteer host site support
- For information on PDA's grant program, contact Jim Kirk, jim.kirk@pcusa.org; (502)-438-5161.

Other PDA Resources

Several other miscellaneous resources are available from PDA that include:

- Light Our Way – A manual for emotional and spiritual care in times of disaster

- PDA Blue T-shirts for volunteers working in the field
- Mosaic magazine
- Interpretive videos about volunteer work team experiences in long-term recovery, visit <https://vimeo.com/pdacares>
- Daily Devotional guide for volunteer work teams
- For resource information, contact PDA staff at disaster@pcusa.org; (502) 569-5806

Other Agencies of the Church

Board of Pensions

In certain disasters resources the Board of Pensions provides resources for disaster survivors. Contact the regional Board of Pensions representative for further information.

Presbyterian Publishing Corporation

The Presbyterian Publishing Corporation (PPC) works with Presbyterian Disaster Assistance (PDA) to offer free replacement resources for those congregations that have experienced property damage and loss. PPC offers each grant recipient a $1,500 credit toward the following: Westminster John Knox Press books, Geneva Press books, These Days subscriptions, and Thoughtful Christian Download subscriptions. For more information contact Monty Anderson at manderson@presbypub.com or 502-569-5067.

Presbyterian Investment and Loan Program

This program has a special distressed churches fund with loans available at below their normal interest rates. Contact PILP directly for further information.
