Most Immediate Need
ITEM SO10001

Starting at $25

A RIVER runs dry

For the Weenhayek [say WEEN-HAH-YEK] people along Bolivia's Pilcomayo River, clean water has become increasingly scarce, caused by drought, pollution and irregular rainfall. Families had little choice but to drink from salty, contaminated wells. With support from the PC(USA), through its disaster ministries, and Centro de Estudios Regionales para el Desarrollo de Tarija (CERDET), a trusted partner, we helped to deliver safe, clean water to families by laying 500 meters of pipeline, bringing dignity back to an entire community.

from volunteer to NEIGHBOR

Luke Kellett only planned to spend one year in New Orleans as a young adult volunteer with the PC(USA), but the city and people made him want to stay.

He spends his days at Okra Abbey, a community garden in the Pigeon Town neighborhood, where he tends to crops, harvests produce and helps cook for weekly community meals. What started as a year of service has grown into a calling to share Christ's love, a reminder that ending hunger includes showing up, putting down roots and breaking bread together.

PRAJA ABHILASHA NETWORK

ROOTED in rights

Across 19 districts and 139 villages in Sri Lanka, our partner, the Praja Abhilasha (PA) [say PRAH-JUN UH-BEE-LAH-SHAH] Network is doing the quiet, essential work of keeping communities intact. By supporting home gardens, cooperative markets and traditional food practices, they are helping small-scale farmers and fishers feed their families year-round. Through paralegal training and land rights campaigns, they've helped secure the release of more than 117 acres of military-held land — land that belonged to the people who call it home. Supported by the PC(USA)'s hunger ministries, the PA Network is strengthening the roots that hold communities together, just as God intends.

a new STITCH in time

In Victoria Falls, Zimbabwe, 62 women came together with a common need: a path toward stability. Through a sewing project supported by Reachout Trust and the PC(USA)'s hunger ministries, these women gained far more than a skill — they received training in financial literacy, entrepreneurship and business management, along with the tools to put it all into practice. Today, these women who once struggled to feed their families are now running home-based tailoring businesses, building savings and stepping into community leadership roles. One thread at a time, they are stitching together better futures.

Water is life — projects and tools that help provide clean water to families and entire communities

Deep Rock Well ITEM OG30016 $15,000

A deep rock well taps into pure water sources hundreds of feet below ground, providing access to clean water even during drought and other extreme weather conditions. These sustainable wells serve entire communities in the most water-scarce regions of the world, like the community shown above in South Sudan. Here, a mother draws water from their community well — a simple, everyday act made possible by access to a reliable source of clean water. Wells are placed where they can make the greatest impact and can be maintained by trained community members.

Access to clean water close to home can transform daily life — improving health, hygiene and opportunity. Water wells are major investments for individuals and families. Change Lives

Your gift provides help, hope, assistance and relief to people, families and communities in need.

Your generous gifts given through the Presbyterian Giving Catalog will directly impact the ministries supported by our churchwide Special Offerings. As a commitment to good stewardship, and out of consideration to individuals, families and communities impacted by your generosity, we do not use resources to track individual gifts. This practice enables us to use each gift to make the greatest impact. Your gift, combined with others, will be used to carry out our broader community-based work of helping to empower not only individuals and families but whole communities.

While your gift can't be connected to a specific recipient, the Giving Catalog shares stories of hope on its website and through its e-newsletter, highlighting the impact made possible because of generous people like you.

Gifts That Restore Hope

In Somalia, years of drought and disease have left displaced families in Belet-Hawa struggling to feed their families. Many have had to make difficult decisions and sacrifices on feeding their family, educating their children and managing their mounting debt just to survive.

For one family, five dairy goats brought more than nourishment — they brought a way forward. The 5 liters of milk the goats produce each day helped not only feed their family but provided much needed income when sold at market. This project has helped the family pay their debts and return their children to school. Today, they no longer face hunger and can look toward the future with renewed hope.

This is the impact of your generosity — giving that meets an immediate need while helping build more secure futures.
